Travel 1000 years back in time. Take a walk through Ribe anno 825 AD, where you can smell, hear, taste the Viking era.

Ribe VikingeCenter reconstructs and brings to life the Viking era in Ribe.

THE MAGNIFICENT LONGHOUSE
Please, do step inside! To your left is a small stable. To your right is the entrance to the ‘posh’ section, where the farmer lives with his family. You’re welcome to sit down on the mattress filled with hay or at the high table.

Breathe in the atmosphere and the typical smells of sausages by the fireplace, dried herbs, damp woollen blankets, perhaps some old seaweed in a trap hanging on the wall, not to mention smoke!

To ride to Mandoe, across the sea bed, is a very special experience that you rarely forget. The large sand bank, Koresand, offers a unique experience for both horse and rider. This site is also known as “Denmarks dessert” because of the large expanses and offers a rich wildlife. Often you can see the seals sunbathing on the sand banks.

Stays on Mandoe can also be combined with days on Roemoe, so that you experience two charming and different islands in the Wadden Sea.

The Icelandic horse is descended from the horses the vikings brought with them from the North, when they settled in Iceland, more than eleven hundred years ago.
